For BIAN to gain traction in any organisation, leadership needs to understand it — not as a technical standard, but as a strategic lever. CC&C's BIAN Executive Workshop is purpose-built for C-suite executives, CIOs, CTOs, CDOs, and senior leaders in both technology and business.

This workshop cuts through the complexity of BIAN and translates it into the language of business outcomes. Participants gain a clear understanding of what BIAN is, how it applies to their organisation, and — critically — how it delivers tangible benefit: reduced complexity, faster time-to-market, better data governance, and a credible foundation for AI and digital transformation.

The session uses real-world banking case studies and CC&C's client experience to show how leading financial institutions are using BIAN to modernise their architecture, eliminate duplication, and unlock new capabilities — without multi-year transformation programmes.

Designed to be interactive and outcome-focused, the workshop equips senior leaders with the knowledge they need to sponsor, champion, and make informed decisions about BIAN adoption.
